

UNDESIRABLES LEAVE MONTANA

Men and Women of the Tenderloin Are Flocking to South America.

Government Immigration Laws Prove a Terror to Aliens.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 15.—Hundreds of undesirable aliens, men and women of easy morality have fled from Montana within the past few months according to an investigation made by the immigration service for the district of Montana and Idaho with headquarters in this city. To South America many have gone, while many others have fled over the line into Canada, never to return to this country.

The new immigration law is responsible for this flight of the sinners, and it has resulted in the tenderloin districts of Montana cities where in the past the foreign element preponderated, being given over almost entirely to native born sinners. The French men and French women are said to be of the past in this state. They have been hurried so long that when the new law went into effect they suddenly determined to go to other countries where no discrimination of native born and foreign sinners is made.

Under the old immigration law a foreigner of immoral character could only be deported if apprehended within three years after the date of landing. The new law abolishes the three year clause and provides for the deportation of all foreigners of immoral character, no matter whether they have been in the country one year or twenty years. It was this clause which disheartened the aliens. The French colony drifted out of Helena some months ago. Shortly after the passage of the new immigration law the foreigners left Great Falls. Many of them, along with a number from Helena went to South America. They were slower to move from Butte, but at the present time there are very few left in that city. The exodus that have taken place in Montana has also taken place in all the other western states.

ELECTRIC LINE TO BRIGHAM

er sang a solo which was heartily applauded.

Mosiah Evans Talks.

On behalf of the Bear River Valley Commercial club, Mosiah Evans also added his congratulations to the officials of the railroad company upon the completion of the line and urged the company to continue the line into the Bear River valley, which, he enthusiastically declared, is the most fertile agricultural section in the Rocky Mountain region.

President Eccles' Address.

Drawing a comparison between the appearance of Brigham City forty-seven years ago and today, President David Eccles gave away a secret which has never before been made public. Mr. Eccles said that nearly a half century ago he made frequent trips on foot between the two cities with a heavy pack on his back, selling rolling pins and other wares. "Have often remembered these trips with their remembrance has had much to do with a desire on my part to see an electric line connecting the two cities," declared the speaker. Mr. Eccles modestly assured his audience that much praise for the completion of the electric line, due to Engineer Joseph A. West, under whose supervision the road was built.

Bamberger Praises Eccles.

President Simon Bamberger of the Salt Lake & Ogden Railroad company, who came up from Salt Lake to make the initial trip over the new line, was introduced. He joined the other speakers in praising David Eccles and his associates upon the completion of the line, and speaking from his personal experience he warned Mr. Eccles against too sanguine hopes of the line paying at first.

In reply to the inquiry of Mayor Glasman regarding the reason for Salt Lake people coming to Ogden to do their trading, Mr. Bamberger pleasantly explained that this was due to the fact that there are more people in Salt Lake than there are in Ogden, and that Brigham City may expect the business of the overpopulation of Ogden in the same degree.

Cheers for David Eccles.

After the meeting had adjourned the Ogden contingent returned to the train, where after several hearty cheers from the Brigham City people for David Eccles and the others in the Ogden party the train was started on its return trip to this city.

The run back to Ogden was made in one hour and twenty minutes. The roadbed and track from the Utah Hot Springs to Brigham City is one of the finest stretches of railway in the state.

Mr. Bamberger made a close inspection of the line and was enthusiastic in his praise of those who have made travel by electric line between the two cities a reality.

Regular traffic over the line will be opened this morning at 6:30 o'clock.

The special train was in charge of Superintendent Joseph Bailey, Conductor J. E. Shaw and Motorman J. Maddock.

The hall was profusely decorated with pennants and ribbons of the college colors, while over in one corner under a display of magnificent decorations could be seen one of the leading students serving the punch, which every student pronounced "delicious." The music which was rendered by Salter's orchestra, was also very pleasing and seemed to help fill every one with that friendly and sociable feeling toward each other which always results in a pleasant time for all those present.
